

TestMasters seeks talented and highly motivated individuals to teach the TestMasters LSAT Course across the country. TestMasters instructors earn lucrative rates of pay by teaching live classes and providing private tutoring. TestMasters offers classes in almost every major city in the United States as well as Toronto, Canada. Many of our instructors teach locally; or, if you are interested in traveling, you can become a "rover", in which case TestMasters relocates you to a given area, covers all of your housing and transportation costs, and guarantees that you will be teaching at least two full-length courses. Rovers are typically compensated at a higher rate of pay than instructors who teach locally.

To qualify for the position of TestMasters instructor, you must have achieved a 98th percentile score (170 or higher on the current scale) on an officially administered LSAT, and be available to attend our intensive training session, which will be held July 5th through July 12th in Los Angeles. You must also be available to teach at least one full length course in its entirety. You may view all of the locations where TestMasters currently offers LSAT courses by clicking on the "Schedules and Locations" link on the homepage of our website, www.testmasters.net.

Instructor candidates must have a passion for teaching and the ability to convey LSAT concepts to students effectively. A great LSAT score is necessary but not sufficient for becoming an LSAT instructor at TestMasters.

To apply for an LSAT instructor position, please submit a cover letter, resume, and a copy of your official score report to jobs@testmasters.net or via facsimile to 424-702-3350.