

It's time again to nominate a deserving colleague for the 2nd Annual Ontario Lawyer of the Year award!

The Law Times Ontario Lawyer of the Year Award recognizes and rewards the achievements of an individual practising law in Ontario who has made a unique contribution to the profession over the past year.

We're looking for an individual who exemplifies the high ethical ideals, standards, and reputation of the legal profession and has made an impact over the past year in one or more of the following areas:

- Advocacy in the public interest
- An invaluable contribution to their business or the business of law
- Public service and a devotion to the public good in their practice
- Unique contribution to the improvement of the criminal or civil justice system
- Innovation and creativity in advocacy
- Improvement in the law
- Individual lawyer training and mentoring
- Pro bono legal work

If you know a deserving colleague that fits that description why not give them the recognition that they deserve by nominating them for the Ontario Lawyer of Year award.

Deadline for nominations: December 12, 2005

For more information and nomination forms, visit our Web site at www.lawtimesnews.com

We welcome nominations for lawyers from all corners of the province and across all practice areas.