Product liability litigation is complex as issues can arise throughout a product’s design, manufacture, alteration, distribution, and sale. Litigators are tasked with confronting the convergence of tort, contract, personal injury, property loss, and business loss issues. This comprehensive OBA Top Litigator Series program will provide you with an introduction to litigating product liability claims, instruction on handling jurisdictional issues, insight on what clients expect from their counsel, and valuable information for working with experts. This is an essential must-attend program for all practicing and working in the area of product liability litigation.
