Every year, the Union Internationale des Avocats (UIA) organises an international congress that offers lawyers the opportunity to exchange different perspectives and experiences with colleagues from all over the world. This year the UIA is pleased to be holding its 61st International Congress in Toronto (for more information, click here).

As part of that congress, the UIA and the OBA are excited to present a special joint session on negotiating international contracts and managing international disputes for young lawyers. Join us for a series of presentations from a team of experienced international lawyers. This is a rare opportunity to obtain global perspectives on a set of skills that are critical for any lawyer seeking to work on international transactions. Register now!
